

DILLON JUROR HAS A RECORD

The Man Who Helped Convict Racine Saloon Keeper Of Murder Has Served Time.

MAY ASK FOR A NEW TRIAL SOON

Attorneys For Defense Will Use This As An Argument To Help The Client In His Fight For Freedom.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Racine, Wis., Nov. 29.—A sensation was created this morning when it was reported that a new trial for William Dillon, found guilty of the murder of Jacob Best, Jr., would be asked for on the ground that one of the jurors was ineligible. This juror, it is claimed, served nine months in the house of correction for stabbing a man and also served three months for a lesser crime and he was never restored citizenship. This thought was developed after the trial was well under way. The attorneys for the defense are looking up the record and may present it as one of the reasons why a new trial should be granted. Arguments for a new trial will probably not be heard until the middle of next week.

maker was shot on Thursday evening, April 18, by Florence Dugan, his former sweetheart whom he had deserted. The shooting occurred on Academy street shortly after seven o'clock in the evening and Florence Dugan was immediately arrested with the smoking revolver in her hands, and Schumaker hurried to the Mercy hospital. For weeks he hovered between life and death and then gained strength, although no hopes of his recovery was ever considered possible. Florence Dugan was placed on trial in the Municipal court the second week of October and was acquitted on October 12, the jury finding

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—The government rested its case in the Bradley murder trial this afternoon. Dr. Edward M. Brash of Baltimore and Dr. Smith E. Jelliffe of New York, government experts, testified that they were positive Mrs. Bradley was not insane at the time of the shooting of former Senator Brown, and that she was able to choose between right and wrong and was responsible for the act. Rev. D. H. Usher, Mrs. Bradley's pastor, testified concerning a conversation he had with the defendant in Salt Lake, when she told him that Senator Brown would marry her if he faced a pistol, but she didn't say she would shoot him. The defense rested at 2:14. Judge Stafford announced the case would go to the jury Monday. The arguments will begin tomorrow.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 29.—That approximately $30,000 had been diverted from its proper channels in the business of C. W. Turning against his former employer and partner who had brought him up in the business and for whom he had worked for twenty-eight years, first as office boy and then his partner, Wagner calmly went over the books of the bankrupt company, of which the officers including himself and C. W. and William E. Milbrath, stand accused of embezzlement of $300 from the estate of a poor widow and explained numerous items to show the alleged illegal manner of doing business by the company.

OMAHA ROAD LOSES IN PULP RATE CASE

Refund Is Granted Dells Paper, and Pulp Company of Eau Claire In Queer Case.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 29.—In a case of the Dells Paper & Pulp company of Eau Claire against the Chicago, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad before the state railway commission the plaintiff was granted a refund of a large amount of money on an excessive rate paid to the railroad company for the shipment of 21 cars of pulp from Ashland. The paper company made the demand upon the railroad for a refund on the ground that the rate was greatly reduced by the passage of an act by the state legislature. The commission held that the money could not be refunded on that ground because the act was not passed until after the rate had been paid. It was conceded that the refund should be made because the rate charged was unusual. The amount of the refund is not mentioned but it is said to be about one-half of the amount originally paid to the railroad company.

CONTRACTS NOT BINDING

That telephone contracts between subscribers and a telephone company are only binding from month to month is the substance of a decision rendered by the railway commission in a case brought before that body by the Broadhead telephone company.

The case originated over the objection of a number of subscribers, who had contracts with the company for telephone rental at low rates, to paying higher rates than were stipulated in the contracts. The decision renders telephone contracts for more than one month of no account. It will affect every telephone company in the state and will nullify long standing contracts.

JUSTICE HARLAN HAS SAT ON BENCH THIRTY YEARS

Soldier, Politician, And Jurist Has Had Long Experience On Highest Tribunal In The Country.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—Thirty years an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States in the remarkable record attained today by Mr. Justice John Marshall Harlan, it was on November 29, 1877, that Justice Harlan received his commission, taking his seat on the bench on the 10th of the following month. In the entire history of the supreme court there have been but five members of that august body whose terms of service exceeded the record of Justice Harlan. Justices Story and Field each served thirty-four years, Justices McLean of Ohio and Wayne of Georgia, each thirty-two years, and Bushrod Washington of Virginia thirty-one years.

Perhaps the life of no man living has been more intimately associated with the history of the nation than that of Mr. Harlan. When the civil war broke out he left the practice of law and entered the Union army. His career as a lawyer, soldier, politician and statesman, but chiefly as a jurist, has at all times been characterized by that intensity and straightforwardness that has made his legal opinions delivered in the highest court of the land of especial interest. And in his thirty years on the supreme bench he has handed down some noted decisions, including that in the Nebraska maximum freight rate case and the Northern Securities case.

Mr. Harlan was born in Boyle county, Kentucky, in 1827, was educated in Center college and Transylvania university, and was a county judge at the age of 25. In the civil war he was colonel of a Kentucky regiment in the Union army, and later served as attorney general of the Blue Grass state. He was twice nominated for governor.

His life since he came to Washington thirty years ago has brought him into contact with a vast number of public men. Among those whom he has known are Gen. Grant, Rosecrans, Conkling, James G. Blaine, Thomas A. Hendricks, Schuyler Colfax, Henry Wilson, Allen G. Thurman, President Arthur, President Harrison, President Cleveland and Gen. Sherman, who was his old commander in the civil war. He has known practically all of the men who have been eminent in the history of the nation for half a century. With these men he has come in actual contact, and many of them he has known intimately.

The marked optimism of Mr. Harlan and his interest in present-day affairs, from golf to the cases that come before him as a member of the supreme court of the United States, have always made him a favorite among young men. There is no outdoor sport that is not familiar to Mr. Harlan. Not only has he always taken an interest in such sports, but he has been an ardent participant in many of them. At his summer home in Murray Bay, Canada, he is known as an earnest golf player, and was, for a time, the president of the golf club, which boasts many fine players. He loves physical exercise of any kind.

Justice Harlan has been eligible to retirement from the supreme bench for several years, but so far as his friends are aware he has never taken the question up for consideration. His retirement would be regarded as a distinct loss to the court because of his natural ability, vigorous Americanism and long experience in dealing with constitutional questions that have come before him.

BRYAN AND ROOSEVELT TO BE CANDIDATES NEXT YEAR

Washington Politicians Are Sure That Both Will Be Choice Of Their Respective Parties.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Nov. 29.—If the endorsement of five hundred staunch can be taken as representative of the wishes of the great Democratic party, then no other than the "People's Leader," William Jennings Bryan will head the party ticket in the Presidential race next year. And granting the Nebraska nomination, if there is any truth in the reports of his strength throughout the United States, then the respective Republican candidates will have to wait another year before the Republican nominee if his party is to have any show of success. This, briefly, is the belief which is gaining ground in the national capital since Mr. Bryan was acclaimed leader of his party at the banquet in his honor the other day. The past week has been "Bryan Week" in Washington; he addressed meetings of the International Y. M. C. A., delivered a lecture on his travels abroad, attended a wedding, and political rallies galore. And everywhere he has been welcomed by Republicans and Democrats alike. At the big banquet tendered him by the guests, as "The Idol of Many Millions," and one of the speakers on the program assured his audience that if the tariff and the trusts are made the issue in the next campaign, the children, during the ensuing four years, will amuse themselves with Bryan "licks" instead of Teddy bears. It is coming to be recognized generally that Mr. Bryan is the strongest man the Democrats can find, and with this conviction the third term advocates are expressing satisfaction, for they hope to use it as a lever with which to pry President Roosevelt from his determination not to be a candidate. The "third-termers" are becoming more insistent than ever, and one of them, a Philadelphia lawyer, has uncovered the fact that George Washington never meant to establish a precedent against a third term when he declined the honor of directing the affairs of state at the end of two four-year seasons in the White House. President Washington's advisers, did not decline a third term, but simply desired to retire to private life after serving the people in various important capacities, and no one reading his declaration logically can reach the conclusion that the over thought of such a thing as that there should be any objection to a third Presidential term. What effect, if any, this discovery will have upon Mr. Roosevelt's attitude remains to be seen.

HERRING FISHING ON LAKE SUPERIOR

Interesting Scenes of Fishing Attract Visitors to Lake Superior Shores.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 29.—The picturesque scenes incident to the annual herring catch on Lake Superior are drawing visitors to the village of Bayfield where 500 men and twenty-five vessels are working night and day. The herring in Lake Superior begin running late in November, and usually run from ten to twenty days, which is the extreme limit of the fishing season. At six o'clock in the morning the herring fleet sets sail, goes under the lee of one of the Apostle Islands, and the nets are set. They are lifted a few hours afterward, and the boats begin getting in, not later than six or seven o'clock, the first boats returning as early as one o'clock.

A small army of workmen take care of the fish from the boats. They are scooped out with shovels and cleaned and salted. Each workman gets 40 cents per barrel, and they clean from 8 to 10 barrels per day. They are packed in cars like cordwood and shipped to all parts of the country, particularly to the coal regions of Pennsylvania. It takes on the average three herring to weigh one pound, and the catch will easily amount to 2000 tons. At no other time of the year are the close of fish caught. They are the salted, and there is a ready market for them. Lake Superior swarms with fish, and the herring are very numerous, but they remain in deep water excepting for the few days just before winter sets in.

MRS. LAURA KENDALL DIED ON THURSDAY

One of Janesville's Oldest Residents
Passes to the Great Beyond.

Laura Kendall, probably the oldest inhabitant of Janesville, passed peacefully to the better life on Thanksgiving morning at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ida Macaulay, No. 52 Cherry street. Mrs. Kendall was born at Duxbury, Vermont, December 24th, 1811, and had she lived until next month would have been ninety-six years old. Laura Anna was married to Theodore Kendall at Lowell, Vermont, May 10th, 1836, and in October, 1838, came with her husband to Janesville, where for more than sixty-three years she has been a resident. Her husband died on the 24th day of April, 1881, at the age of ninety years. The lives of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall in this community were the simple, economical and prudent lives of the pioneers who settled and built up this country. Mrs. Kendall, while not a charter member of the Congregational church, was one of its very early members and always manifested great interest in its work and welfare. It was her thought that the church should have a home for its pastor and her generous gift of two thousand dollars to the parsonage fund insured the building of such a home. She was also one of ten of our citizens who gave five hundred dollars to the Y. M. C. A. building fund, and thus enabled the association to dedicate its building free from debt.

Death came to this woman as a relief from the infirmities of age and was simply the going away of a life that had retained its activities in a remarkable degree.

The funeral services will be conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. C. Donlon, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Mrs. Macaulay, 52 Cherry street.

Mrs. Anna R. Sheldon, Mrs. Anna R. Sheldon, wife of S. L. Sheldon of Madison and sister-in-law of A. H. Sheldon of Janesville, died suddenly at the old Edward Hall home in Kenosha on Wednesday after a brief illness with acute stomach trouble. She was seventy years of age and for a decade past had been giving lectures on historical subjects before the women societies in Milwaukee, Madison, and other cities of the state. She is survived by three children, one of whom is Miss Georgina Sheldon of Florence, Italy, and another Harry Sheldon, an attorney of Madison. The remains have been taken to Madison for interment.

ROCK COUNTY AS MODEL FOR RACINE

Supervisor of Assessments F. P. Starr Recently Delivered an Address Before the Racine Supervisors.

In response to an invitation from the Racine county board of supervisors, Frank P. Starr, supervisor of assessments, outlined in an address before that body on Nov. 20, the methods and results of the assessment and equalization of Rock county. He told the Racine supervisors that good results were achieved here through perfect harmony in the working forces. The room was crowded with attentive listeners who asked many questions after the close of the address. The state board considers Rock county one of the best equalized in the Badgerdom, and sent several local men to review the local equalization which was approved by the town of Cedarburg. They were O. D. Bruce, Bert Gage, and Mr. Starr of this city, George Keith of Milton, E. D. Cannon of Heloit, and M. Knutson of Avalon. They finished their work on Wednesday. ALUMNI WERE GOOD BUT COULDN'T LAST

Were First Irresistible in Game with High School—Final Score: High School, 7; Alumni, 5.

Stars of high school football teams during the past four years battled with the high school regulars at Athletic park yesterday and went down to defeat by a score of 7 and 5. At the beginning the "blue beams" were irresistible. They started out by taking the ball from their opponents on downs and then piling down the field and sending Caldwell off tackle for a touchdown. Then the high school took a brace and approached the alumni goal. The alumni secured the platoon on downs but were forced to kick. The kick was blocked and the ball bounded behind the goal line where Tippet fell on it for a touch-down. Soon afterwards Tippet made a beautiful attempt at drop-kicking and the strong wind carrying the ball aside the goal post. In the second half the alumni attempted a forward pass on their own five-yard line. The ball fell to the ground and Referee Hayes donated a safety, counting two points to the high school, calling the ball over on the penalty. On the side line there was considerable dispute as to whether or not a score could be given on a penalty. It being held that the penalty, which in the middle of the field at half the distance of the goal line when within fifteen yards of the goal. The alumni dropped the matter after some objection, not caring enough about victory to dispute. The game ended with the high school piling through the alumni line and making substantial gains on forward passes. The line-up:

High School: Line-up: Linebacker, Langdon; Tackle, Therman; End, Woodworth; Guard, Don Joffe; Quarterback, Casidy; Fullback, John Ryan; Halfback, C. Wright; Running back, Bonnett; Kick, Caldwell; Punt, F. Nuzum.

R. CUNNINGHAM WON CROSS-COUNTRY RUN

Close Finish of Four Runners Exciting Spectacle in Yesterday's Race.

Four runners finishing within 15 yards of one another was the exciting spectacle of the Y. M. C. A. cross-country run yesterday morning when Roger Cunningham crossed the tape just two yards ahead of J. Bruce Kling, who was closely followed by W. North, third, and A. Griswold, fourth. The time was 25 minutes and 15 seconds which is considered a most excellent record for the first athletic event of its kind held here. The sidewalks along west Milwaukee street a block within the finish were thronged with anxious spectators who patiently waited for the sprinters to cover the course a little over four miles in length. The finish of the race was as pretty as a picture. Struggling for first place Cunningham and Kling ran neck and neck for 100 yards down the last stretch and the victor was not known until Cunningham forged himself to the front at the very last and crossed the line just two yards ahead of his opponent.

The runners started at 9:25, when Mayor Ledwith fired the pistol. They were off in a sprint for the first 100 yards, but soon settled down to a slower jog. Anderson led the bunch most of the way until they hit Main street near Hub's brewery, where North took the lead and held it until they swung into Milwaukee street at the point where Jackson intersects. Anderson fell in front of the Baptist church, but he was forbidden by doctors to continue in the race after he recovered his feet and was about to attempt a brilliant finish. Out of the nine starters six finished the race. A silver loving cup was the first prize given to Cunningham and a silver medal was awarded as second prize to Kling. Physical Director William Muenchow intends to make the Thanksgiving cross-country run an annual athletic event for Y. M. C. A. members. Yesterday's race proved a great success in the way of an athletic contest and as a holiday feature and it will doubtless be repeated next year.

AFTON SCHOLARS IN PROGRAM WEDNESDAY

Pleasing Entertainment Given by School Children Under Direction of Teachers.

Afton, Nov. 20.—One of the best Thanksgiving programs ever heard in Afton was that rendered by the pupils of the state graded school last Wednesday afternoon. The entertainment was given at the school building and was attended by several residents of the district, who thoroughly enjoyed the various numbers, which included songs, recitations, dialogues and a play entitled "The Thanksgiving Dinners." This was based on an incident of the revolution and was participated in by Misses Beasle Griffin, Elizabeth Skelley, Emma Drafiel, Evelyn Mueller and Masters Leroy Robb, James Oakley, Leonard Wheeler, William Griffin and Harry Miller. The program was arranged and presented under the personal supervision of the teachers, Miss Hazel E. Palmer and Miss Ethel E. Soper, and was creditable alike to them and to the scholars participating. At the conclusion of the entertainment, school closed for Thanksgiving and will not open again until next Monday morning.

Christmas will be observed as usual by the Baptist Sunday school this year, it having been decided last Sunday to have the customary entertainment on Christmas eve, with a tree for the central item, and with special music, recitations and other interesting features incorporated in the program.

"Going! Going! Gone!!!" This will be the refrain heard at Brinkman's hall next Thursday evening, the occasion being a box social given under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society, at which boxes containing supper for two will be sold at auction to the highest bidder. Box socials have always proven very popular in Afton and vicinity and the one slated for next week will doubtless be no exception to the rule.

German life, customs and achievements occupied the attention of the literary society, at its first regular meeting for study, held at the home of Mrs. C. H. Antsdel last Tuesday evening. Floyd Miller acted as leader and papers on Germany were presented as follows: Area, position and topography, Rosa Engelke; Climate, productions and industries, Herman Hansen; Historical summary down to 1871, David Throner. Noted men: (a) Musicians, O. E. Wehling; (b) Authors, Harry Robb; (c) Military leaders, U. G. Waite. Mr. Robb could not be present at the meeting, but he prepared an exhaustive paper on the topic assigned him, which was read by Supt. O. D. Antsdel. Among the musical numbers rendered were a couple of German songs, sung by a quartet comprising O. E. Wehling, Emma Lammert, Evelyn Mueller and Selma Hummel. The current news report was given by Floyd Drafiel. The next meeting will be held at the home of Peter Drafiel, Thursday evening, December 12th, with modern German as the topic. Miss Ethel E. Soper will act as leader and George W. Robb will give the news report.

At a meeting of the Loyal Americans of the Republic, to be held at the home of U. G. Waite, Friday evening, December 27th, officers for the ensuing year will be elected and other business of importance transacted. There will be preaching services at the Baptist church here next Sunday morning and evening as usual, and also on Wednesday evening at 7:30, the English Lutherans having charge of the latter service.

Mrs. Helen Royer and Mrs. Cora Cummings and little daughter, of Shipshewer, were the guests of Mrs. Lucy Millard for Thanksgiving dinner.

Clark Fred Kolthoff of the state graded school attended the county school board meeting at Janesville last Tuesday.

Deputy Game Warden Peter Drafiel returned last Monday evening from a business trip to northern Wisconsin.

Mrs. E. A. Beckus is slowly recovering from a serious illness and is now able to sit up a part of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ward and infant daughter of Beloit spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hummel.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Miller ate Thanksgiving turkey at the Janesville home of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Waite.

County Superintendent O. D. Antsdel attended the Thanksgiving entertainment given by the pupils of the state graded school last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Nellie McCrea is spending the week at the home of her son Harry in Chicago.

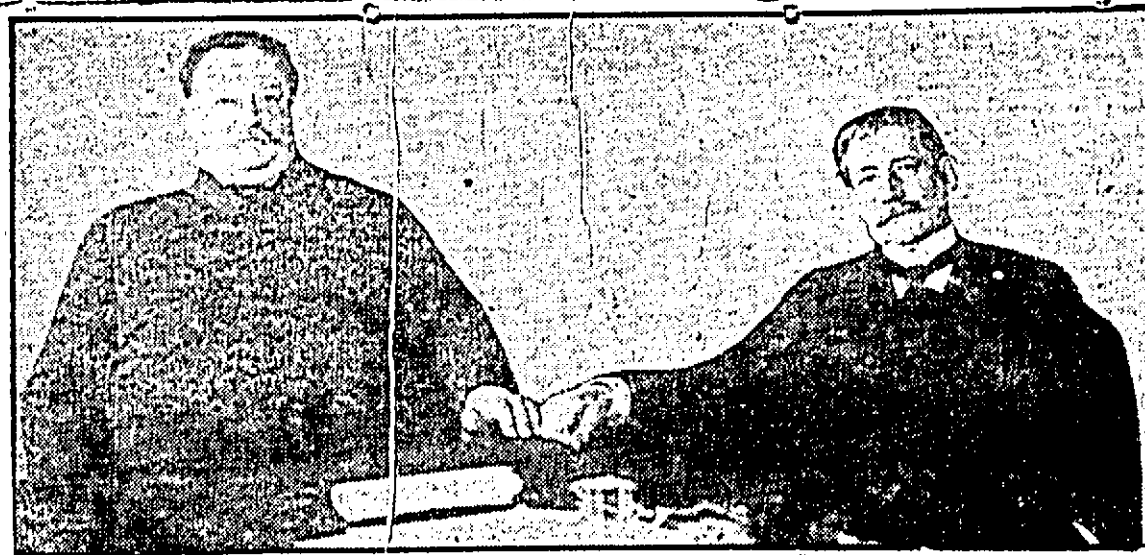

August Stark of Concord, Wis., is the guest of his brother, Albert W. Stark.

Alfie Drafiel returned to Platteville, Wis., last Monday, after a few days spent at the parental home here.

DANCING PARTY GIVEN FOR MISS MACMILLAN AT THE PARISH HALL

The Misses Agnes and Mabel Shumway, Entertained Company of Young People Last Evening. The Misses Agnes and Mabel Shumway entertained a company of young people at a dancing party, given at the Christ church parish hall last evening in honor of their guest, Miss Bertha Macmillan of Menomonie, Wis., a student at Downer College, Milwaukee.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The intensest rumor in cabinet circles declares that Elihu Root, secretary of state, is losing his health beneath his public burdens and may be forced to resign. While it is denied at the White House according to press dispatches, that Mr. Root has any present intention of leaving the president's official family yet in spite of this fact those who are acquainted with the situation are aware that Mr. Root is disposed to lay down the burden of public life as soon as any day. He had practically decided to retire early in the summer, but decided to remain temporarily at the earnest solicitation of the president.

He visited the famous Alden athletic camp and was greatly benefited. Since then, however, he has slipped back to some extent and although nothing official has taken place between him and the president, friends of the secretary say that unless he improves a great deal within a short time he will retire from office. The cabinet would lose a strong and foresightful man should Root retire. He, with Secretary of War Taft, are the dominating spirits of the president's official family. Side by side with Taft Secretary Root has participated in the development of the new system of government made necessary by the Spanish war. If Mr. Root were a younger man and his health did not appear to be materially undermined he would unquestionably prove a formidable candidate for the presidency. Root, Taft and the president have practically been closer together than any three men in the nation's capital in working out the existing problems of colonial government. The picture shown above was taken just before the secretary of war left for his world trip and is suggestive of the close relationship between these two members of the cabinet, a relationship which may now possibly have to be broken.

MISS ANN SILLSBEE ELOPED IN FAR WEST

Chicago Girl Who Visited Miss Hazel Spencer in This City During Past Summer Figures in Big Surprises.

Janesville friends of Miss Anne Silsbree of Chicago, who was a guest of Miss Hazel Spencer for a fortnight during the past summer, will be interested in the news which has drifted eastward from Colorado Springs, of her elopement with and marriage to Mr. Rosenfeld, a New Yorker, whom she met at the home of her sister in the western city. She was on her way back to Chicago and had no knowledge of the prospective groom's presence on the train, when he suddenly appeared in her car. After a brief conversation they decided to elope at the next station, secure a marriage license, have the knot tied, and return to Colorado Springs to surprise the sister and her husband. They acted accordingly, and the element of surprise in this greeting fully equalled all anticipations.

Let Us Devoutly Hope So. Chicago News: It looks as if the banks would resume paying out money with even less fuss than they suspended that pleasing employment.

A Three-minute Job

It takes the Malleable girl just three minutes to clean her range, after the kitchen work is done. She uses a greasy rag, that's all. Quicker than it takes to tell, it looks as good as new.

THE MALLEABLE RANGE
MADE IN SOUTH BEND

Is so scientifically built that it will last a life-time, and it is so easy to keep clean that it always looks as good as new. The nickel parts can be quickly cleaned because they are perfectly smooth with round covers. There are no places for dust to accumulate.

Drop in and see the Malleable Man and the Malleable Girl at the store of

H. L. McNAMARA

ALL THIS WEEK.

The Malleable Girl Will Serve You With Three Minute Biscuits and Delicious Hot Coffee and Present You With a Beautiful Cook Book and a Useful Souvenir.

WITH EACH RANGE purchased during this exhibit, you have a free choice of a complete set of high-grade cooking ware: a fifty-nine piece handsomely decorated semi-porcelain dinner set or several other valuable and attractive premiums well worth $7.50

PLAY BALL

Under this caption the Manufacturers' Record for November 21 prints the following little sermon on the present financial troubles. It is well worth reading and considering. The Manufacturers' Record is a magazine devoted to the interests of the manufacturers of the whole country and what it says to its readers is worth reading by businessmen the country over.

"Keep cool; don't get excited; don't imagine that present monetary conditions are more than short-lived; don't talk panic; don't think panic; create an atmosphere of faith and optimism wherever you go. Some people lost confidence and that injured credit, and people who ought to be ashamed of such action draw currency out of banks and locked it up. That can't last. Idle money soon burns a hole in your pocket and gets out. Men want their money to work 24 hours a day, Sundays and holidays included. They want interest or income from it. Don't imagine that idle money is going to stay idle. It will soon be coming back into the banks, just as soon as its owners come to their senses and realize that they have been more hysterical than a woman who yells because a poor little mouse happens in her room. The whole scene would be laughable if it were not so serious in its consequences. It's like a nervous man who wakes up suddenly in the night and trembles with fear until he stops to realize that a banging shutter or snow sliding off the roof made the great noise. Then his nerves soon quiet down and he goes peacefully to sleep. The country's nerves were on edge, and everybody was under a little tension because some of our public men, believing that there was a thief in a big crowd, concluded that they would try to kill him by shooting the whole crowd with grape and canister and take the chance of hitting the thief. Some were hurt and a few killed, while dodging cannon balls of this kind had kept the crowd, which included the great American public, so busy that naturally any sudden noise even of a banging shutter started them to running.

"In olden cowboy days, when a vast herd of cattle on the plains became panic-stricken in a great thunderstorm at night or from any other cause, thousands of frightened, maddened animals would rush headlong at a terrific pace. Such a stampede must be checked, or hundreds would be trampled to death or be lost, and so the cowboys, riding as hard as cowboys can, and risking life in the danger of being trampled to death, would endeavor to turn the leaders and gradually swing the mighty host into a circle. Round and round the cattle would go until finally, tired out by this swaying around the circle, they quieted down and went peacefully to sleep, apparently wondering why in the world they had been so scared. The American public got scared, started on a wild, mad stampede, and but for the splendid 'rounding-up' work by cowboys Morgan, Rockefeller, Stillman and others the crowd would have crashed headlong to destruction.

"Now that the stampede is over, now that the injury of shooting a whole crowd in order to hit one possible thief has been realized, the American people can realize business operations, get over their scare and do a little thinking. There are just as many people in the United States as there were a month ago, and possibly a few babies more, just as many miles of railroad, just as many bales of cotton and bushels of grain except what Europe had taken and paid for in gold, just as many people to feed and clothe and house. Some of them may eat a little less or wear their old clothes a little longer, but this and conditions will the sooner be righted by a return of sanity. Stop now for a minute and think. Do you see any fewer people in the street cars or on the steam cars, do you see any fewer people moving up and down the streets, do you note any sudden disappearance of any large number of the 85,000,000 people whose wants and activities will keep us busy even if somewhat less than during the strenuous rush of late years, which has been overtaxing night and day nearly every productive enterprise in America. These people don't stand still. They are trading one with the other; they are producing something and consuming something; they are making necessary constant enlargements of all our transportation facilities; they are buying and selling; they are sowing and reaping; they are mining and manufacturing, and any idea that the world is coming to an end and that we must sit around with our thumbs in our mouths and wonder how soon the undertaker will be ready for us is unworthy of men. Dumb beasts in a wild stampede may be excused for their panic condition when frightened, but surely men—men who have any backbone and gray matter—are not going to follow their example. On the contrary, they are going to settle down to business, and if grazing is not quite as good on the new prairie as it was on the old, they are going to hustle so hard for their share that they will keep their sides bulging with fatness even if their timid or lazy neighbors refuse to eat. In other words, quit your fears; go to work; if you have any friends who were foolish enough to lose confidence and draw money out of bank, ridicule their folly out of them; take the demagogue or agitator against legitimate business nearest to you by the back of the neck and duck him in a mill pond until he solemnly swears to be as active in building up business interests as he has been in tearing them down, or in the absence of such promise leave him there, and then go ahead and in the great drama of business life act well your part; there all the honor lies. "Play ball."

So Weston really completed his walk inside his time limit. It was not expected he would be able to reach his destination in time to defeat the Oster theory of old age, but he did.

Some wise weather prophet announces that it will be a mild winter. If this be so, it would be well to lay in a good supply of coal, for it promises to be a long one.

Local athletes have begun a series of annual Thanksgiving races, five miles in length, just to give them an appetite for their Thanksgiving dinner.

Congress will soon assemble now and when they do look out for a flood of bills to ramble everything in the financial world from the price of peanuts up.

Thanksgiving is over and the loss of life from over-eating was not half as large as it was from fireworks on the Fourth.

So now when they want to decide on federal patronage they fly coons for it. Well, this is a new method of dealing out public pay.

Now the Rah, Rah, Boys can settle down to a quiet winter existence after their strenuous fall football campaign.

Christmas is not so far away after all. Just wait and it will come around in time.

If you have not yet begun your Christmas shopping do so at once. The early bird catches the worm.

PRESS COMMENT.

Bravol
"The Journal: The true theory of labor is that every citizen is privileged to work regardless of what he belongs to or believes in.

Not Exactly Mutilated.
Exchange: Thirteen dollars a month hardly puts a soldier boy in the predatory class even if the government does buy his uniform, and Uncle Sam is finding it out.

Possible Pardon for the Offenders.
Chicago Record-Herald: If the people who have been hoarding their money will make haste to buy Christmas presents with it all will be forgiven and no questions asked.

Villainous Jam of Commerce.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Revising confidence resolves a joke from Dr. Wilbur's announcement that the jaw-berry jam of commerce is sometimes composed of glucose, lard and confetti.

In the Superlative.
(Milwaukee Journal.)
When he calls you his darling, his duckie, his dove,
And spoons in superlative pageant,
You may know that he wears but the trappings of love
While working as Cupid's press agent.

Forewarning Against Xmas Sorrow.
Exchange: Santa Fire Warden Purlitt offers a timely warning against the use of inflammable holiday decorations, but there will probably be no Christmas fires just the same. The sorrow and suffering caused by holiday fires is usually forgotten except by the families and friends of the victims, and people permit themselves to become reckless while indulging in illuminations.

Read the want ads.

Two Public Benefactors.
Milwaukee News: Lumberman Weyershauser, who has been nicknamed the king of the forest destroyers, has given $20,000 to Yale to found a chair in forestry.

Buffalo Bill, whose distinction rests upon the slaughter that he worked among the herds of buffalo on the western plains, has established a private park for breeding buffalo and saving them from complete extinction. The lumberman and the buffalo killer are public benefactors. If Weyershauser had not obtained possession of vast tracts of pine lands and denuded them he could not have established a chair in forestry. If Buffalo Bill had not killed so many buffaloes that he became famous, he could not have started a wild west show and made money enough to start a buffalo farm.

REHBERG'S

2 Points For Thought
High Quality--Moderate Prices.

IN Clothing and Shoes, as in everything else—the buyer would not knowingly pay at one store a higher price for goods than he would pay another dealer—quality for quality. We say knowingly because we are quite sure the average buyer does not study the buying proposition closely enough. These stores have always made a point of highest qualities at the minimum of price and because of the adherence strictly to this principle, the business has gone forward by leaps and bounds—Each day, each week, finds new converts to the Rehberg business ways, and as seeing is the strongest convincing argument, if you doubt—We ask you to see.

Is Money Tight With You?

If so, you will be pleased to note that your needs in the Dental line may be easily met.

If you select the Right Dentist, Dr. Richards has built up the largest Dental practice in the city during the past 7 years.

By delivering three things.

1ST. PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

Just this A. M. one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Janesville consulted him and had an averted tooth extracted and said in departing:

"Dr. Richards, you did that very nicely and satisfactorily to me."

2NDLY. GOOD, HONEST WORK.

Time tells the tale in all things and time only shows up the durability of his work.

3RDLY. REASONABLE PRICES.

You no doubt have paid $10 each for those gold crowns in your mouth. Dr. Richards has put out hundreds in this city for just $5 each, and guarantees them to be the same in every respect—quality of gold, thickness of gold, purity, etc., etc.

What's the use of paying twice as much as necessary, when by consulting Dr. Richards you may get the same work at a less price and all done painlessly in the bargain.

RAILWAY TRAINMEN
GAVE ANNUAL BALL

Superb Appointments and Splendid Musical Program Contributed to Success of Memorable Event at Assembly Hall.

Those who "took the train to Dreamland" Thanksgiving eve and the passenger list was nearly 300—spent one of the most enjoyable evenings with their individual and aggregate experience as guests at the twenty-second annual ball of the Rock River Lodge No. 210, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. The train is a mere figure of fancy, but Assembly hall, roofed with immense fountains of overgreen and holly and bedecked with palms, great clusters of chrysanthemums, and gilt-framed mirrors—the whole decorative scheme tastefully carried out by Edward Amorphi and his assistants—was a very real and alluring "Dreamland." Knott & Hatch's full orchestra played a program of surpassing excellence and over fifty visitors from Chicago, Milwaukee, Rockford, Harvard, Madison, Baraboo, La Crosse and Green Bay, participated in festivities which did not terminate until three o'clock Thursday morning. The committee of arrangements consisted of D. P. Davy, chairman, F. J. Liss and J. P. Griffin. All members of the lodge assisted in receiving guests and the thousands of the floor were so crowded with guests that the hall was a scene of confusion. J. J. Dulin, Chief L. O. Holloway, John Joerg, H. A. Mills, E. P. Boyer, John O'Brien, D. J. Barry, and John Quenney.

WEDS TWO COUPLES

Joseph EauClaire and Mrs. Mary J. Burgett Robinson Took Vows

Thanksgiving Eve.

Two Thanksgiving season weddings have been solemnized at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage by Rev. J. H. Tippett. Wednesday evening a Janesville couple took the vows and yesterday noon a Rockford pair. The Janesville people were Joseph EauClaire and Mrs. Mary J. Burgett Robinson. The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Haldrup. The bride was a widow and the groom a widower. Mr. and Mrs. EauClaire will make their home on Riverside street and the best wishes of hosts of friends follow them in their new life. In the service yesterday noon George L. Porter and Miss H. Borna Kjelstrom, both of Rockford, were the principals. Oscar Kjelstrom and Mrs. Edna Pearson, the latter of this city, served as witnesses. A wedding dinner was spread at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson on Fourth avenue.

CELEBRATED NINETEENTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY
Mr. and Mrs. John U. Fulton entertained relatives at Thanksgiving Feast.

In honor of both the holiday and their nineteenth wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. John U. Fulton entertained a company of relatives at Thanksgiving dinner at their home on South River street yesterday. The dual cause for the festivities made the gathering particularly enjoyable. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. W. H. Fulton of Rockford, mother of Mr. Fulton, and Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Beck, also of Rockford.

Gratifying Virtue.
How beautiful and sublime it is to be merciful to one's enemies. And how much worse your attitude makes them appear. There are times when virtue is very gratifying.

COOKSVILLE
Cooksville, Nov. 20.—Miss Helga Egner and Alfred Furseth were married in Stoughton last Tuesday and returned to the bride's home for the wedding festivities, where many friends awaited them with best wishes and many nice presents. Paint Protects Iron Work.

A new blue-black paint for protecting iron-work is obtained from adding ammonia to the waste chloride of iron solution obtained in preparing iron and steel for wire-drawing, galvanizing and tinning. The oxide of iron precipitate proves a valuable pigment, while the chloride of ammonia produced is likewise useful.

Preserving Foodstuffs.

Fish shown at Paris in 1900 had been preserved in nitrogen for seven years. Oranges, pears, grapes, cherries, etc., are now being packed in paper boxes containing nitrogen, and the exclusion of oxygen seems to keep the fruit from decay for an indefinite time.

Great Men Got Up Early.

Many great statesmen have been early risers. Von Moltke and Bismarck, in the days of their activity, rose as early and worked as hard as any peasant in Germany.

His COURTSHIP

By HELEN R. MARTIN,
Author of "Tillie: A Mennonite Maid."

Copyright, 1907, by McClure, Phillips & Company.

"I think I do appreciate them, Miss Wolcott."

"Not so much, Peter, as you think you appreciate my loss of money."

"I merely pointed out to you that there could be no legal compulsion in the case."
"Compulsion! Don't you think you use strange expressions? You said you believed this girl to be my niece. I tell you now I also believe it. How, then, can there be any talk of 'compulsion' me to return to her her father's money, of which she has been deprived for twenty years? What the loss of the money may mean to me!" She dismissed that side of it with another shrug, though she was very pale. Kinross sprang to his feet and held out his hand. "Miss Wolcott, blood does tell. If you were a man I'd call you a bully fellow. You renew my long lost faith in womankind."

"Because you discover that I'm not a scoundrel?"
"You have a most uncomfortable way of making a fellow feel small."

"Sit down and talk sense. We must decide what is best to do with the girl. You have not told me how you think she will take it when she learns she's an heiress."

"Now, do you, know, I've not the least idea. I'm curious myself to find out."

"Do you think it will turn her head?"
"She is incredibly unsophisticated and ignorant of life—so much so that she will probably not realize at all what it means in a worldly way to come into great wealth. So if you manage her wisely you may save her from having her head turned."

Miss Wolcott sighed heavily. "It seems to me I have a Herculean task on my hands."

"I suppose," said Kinross gravely, "I have seemed heartless in my way of bringing you this unwelcome news. But, believe me, I do most sincerely feel the disaster that it is to you—not, he quickly added, "in the discovery of your niece, but in the loss to you of wealth which you have enjoyed so long that I don't see how you are going to get on without it."

"I managed to worry through thirty years of my life without it, so I suppose I can do it again," she curtly dismissed that phase of the matter.
A victrola continuing two ladies had driven in at the gateway and was coming up the drive. Kinross rose and took up his hat from a table close by.
"We will arrange details tomorrow morning," she asked as he held out his hand. "I shall have the girl come to me as soon as possible," she announced solemnly.

"I wish I were a mediaeval knight! I want to bend the knee to you and kiss your hand!"

"Your enthusiasm at finding me honest is positively insulting, Peter Kinross!"

"Miss Wolcott, I believe in my heart that you will not be ashamed of the girl. I believe you will love her."

"Indeed! But what you believe could have no weight with me, you know, your standards are so impossible!"

With this exchange of civilities they cordially shook hands and Kinross took his leave.

CHAPTER XXII.

IN the uncontrollable restlessness that possessed her during the dragging days while she waited for Dr. Kinross's return, Eunice became so doped (awkwardly) that she proved a sore irritant to her already outraged foster mother.

once?" would be demanded of her a dozen times a day when, in her distraught state, she would spill, break, burn or otherwise destroy. "What's got into you these couple of days back? You don't do nothing right! What do you think pop'll say at your leavin' all them pie git spoilt? I sat you did you take 'em to the spring house and you sayed yes, you did, and then here this morning there they stood standing—in this here hot kitchen all night yet! Pop'll jaw someplum terrible!"

It was in the occasional brief respite from toll in the evening hour, just before bedtime, that her unrest became feverish, maddening; and one night it governed her to the point of driving her to seek at least a moment's diversion from her unbearable heart hunger in an unprecedented act. On her return from the spring house, where she had gone to fetch her last bit of the day's drudgery, she deliberately sat down with the two young ladies on the porch steps.

Miss Elery had become an object of enormous interest to Eunice since Dr. Kinross had told her that he "loved Georgiana." Georgiana herself had in the past few days observed the scrutiny she underwent whenever she was in Eunice's presence. The girl seemed to watch every movement she made, to hang upon every word she uttered, in a way which secretly gratified Georgiana's love of ascendancy.

"What's the matter, Eunice?" asked Daisy in surprise and curiosity as Eunice joined them, for the farm girl had seemed during all their stay at the farm to shrink from any intercourse with them. "Have you and Abe had a scrap?"

"A scrap of what?"
Daisy squealed. "You know, Eunice, the course of true love never runs smooth, so, to be sure, you and Abe must expect to have rows now and then. Is it in Shakespeare, Georgiana, or the Bible? But never mind. No doubt Eunice knows. I can't account for your favoring us with your society, Eunice, unless you've been fighting with Abe and are wanting to be sympathized with. I'm sorry to say I can't oblige you. I couldn't possibly sympathize with a girl who would or could take an interest in Abe, a brute who thinks a woman's a pack horse. Oh, that kind of man! How I'd love to stand on my hind legs and jump at him! Eunice," she said earnestly, "you're too nice a girl for Abe, Choke it off. You don't need to throw yourself away on a chump like Abe—a girl like you."

Eunice, gazing fixedly at Georgiana, made no comment upon Daisy's advice. "Would you object if I asked you a question?" she inquired timidly of Georgiana.

"Certainly not," Georgiana smiled kindly. "Ask me what you like, Eunice."

"How do you occupy your time when you are at home?"

"Up to now," Georgiana answered, "I have spent all my life in school and college. Now I am going to take my place at the head of my father's home. As he is a college president, my life will be more or less public. And of course I shall do a good deal of work in our woman's club. I would prefer to take up a career. But my father really needs me, and so," she concluded heroically, "I am willing to make the sacrifice."

"A career? What sort of a career would you like to follow?"

"If I consulted only my own inclination I would go on studying, take my degree in philosophy and teach."

"Teach!" exclaimed Eunice, with repressed excitement. "You think it a desirable occupation?"

"There is no higher work," Georgiana answered earnestly.

"There are some young women," answered Eunice, "to whom it would appear a pale drink. And some men wouldn't wish it to their 'meaneast' duty."

"Have you and Abe had a scrap?"

"Will be more or less public. And of course I shall do a good deal of work in our woman's club. I would prefer to take up a career. But my father really needs me, and so," she concluded heroically, "I am willing to make the sacrifice."

Georgiana regarded her with a puzzled surprise. "What makes you think so, Eunice?"

"So I have been told."

"There is no nobler work," Georgiana insisted, with enthusiasm.

"Excuse me," objected Daisy. "I'd rather take it in stairs to scrub. If you want to know what I'm going to do, Eunice, now that my education is finished!"

"Finished?" questioned Georgiana, with gentle irony.

"Anything more that's done for it, Georgiana, will have to be a passive process. I refuse to co-operate. I've monkeyed with myself long enough trying to 'develop' my 'latent possibilities.' Anything further in that line has got to be accomplished through a process of absorption by means of my contact with you and uncle. Meanwhile I'm going to sit in the market. Eunice—the matrimonial market, of course. I'm down to the highest bidder."

"Daisy," Georgiana pleaded with her, "if contact with me has given you no higher ideal than that!"

"Oh, it's easy for you to talk, Georgiana! Daisy retorted plaintively. "Your market is made."

"What do you mean, Daisy?"

"You're as good as engaged already to Dr. Kinross."

Eunice had a sensation as though the earth were suddenly floating out from under her. What did it mean, Daisy speaking of "Dr. Kinross?" Was his disguise a pretense and did these girls know him otherwise than as "Pete?" What was this which Daisy had said, "You are as good as engaged to Dr. Kinross?" And he had told her that he "loved Georgiana." Eunice felt herself floating amid clouds of confusion. Georgiana laughed and looked rather pleased. "I'm afraid your assumptions are quite gratuitous, my dear."

"Well, at least there isn't the least doubt as to what his feelings will be," Daisy predicted. "You'll do him brown! He won't be able to help himself no matter how much he'd like to be misogynist or whatever you call 'em."

"I'm not so sure," Georgiana protested, but she laid her hand affectionately on Daisy's arm.

"But you may be sure," Eunice spoke with a half gasp and almost without volition. "He does love you."

"What?" Daisy turned upon her.

"Yes, Dr. Kinross does love her."

Eunice's voice sounded hollow to herself. She was dazed. There was a dull dead weight upon her heart, an undefined but keen sense of loss and pain. Dr. Kinross and Georgiana were "as good as engaged."

"He says he loves you," she repeated mechanically.

There was a sob in her throat that ached intolerably. She felt an imperative need to get away by herself. She suddenly sprang up, and before the other two girls could collect themselves she was gone.

For an instant surprise held both of them silent.

"She's a little bit off the top!" declared Daisy.

"What could she have meant?" wondered Georgiana.

"I can't get aboard!" said Daisy. "I don't think she knows herself. I always did think that girl acted as if she had wheels!"

"If Pete were still here I would ask him what he knows about her. She is singular," Georgiana agreed. "But what could she have meant?"

"She never saw Kinross, and Kinross never saw you. She was talking through her hat."

"Of course," Georgiana again agreed reluctantly. It would be so much more interesting if Daisy's conclusion was not so inevitable—if Eunice had not been "talking through her hat."

Meanwhile Eunice, alone in the "haunted" chamber, seated on the side of the bed and staring with unseeing eyes into the darkness of the room, groped in a greater darkness of soul as she tried in her blind ignorance of life to understand her own great desolation.

MADE FROM S.S.S. ROOTS AND HERBS A SAFE AND RELIABLE BLOOD PURIFIER

In the time of our forefathers the forests and fields were the only laboratories from which they could procure their medicines. They searched out and compounded the different roots, herbs and barks into remedies, many of which have been handed down to succeeding generations, and continuously used with satisfactory results. Among the very best of these old time preparations is S. S. S., a medicine made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, in such combination as to make it the greatest of all blood purifiers. This absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. makes it the one medicine that may be used without fear of harmful results in any way. Most blood medicines on the market contain mercury, potash, or some other strong mineral. These act with bad effect on the system, upsetting the stomach, interfering with the digestion, affecting the bowels, and when used for a prolonged period of time often cause salivation. No such effects ever result from the use of S. S. S., and it may be taken by children as safely as by older people. For Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, and all other troubles caused by impure or poisoned blood, S. S. S. is a perfect remedy. It goes down into the circulation and removes all poisons, impurities, humors or unhealthy matter, and makes the blood pure and rich. It eliminates every particle of the taint of inherited blood trouble, purifies and strengthens the weak, deteriorated blood, and establishes the foundation for good health. S. S. S. is Nature's Blood Purifier, and its many years of successful service, with a steadily increasing demand for it, is the best evidence of its value in all blood troubles. Book on the blood and any medical advice free of charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

Had Tried Politics.

Engaged to be married! What did marriage mean to men like him? She had an unhappy knowledge of what it meant to such as Abe and the other countrymen about here. But to a man like Dr. Kinross, a man with an intellect and a soul as well as a body, would not marriage mean something different to such as he?

Suddenly a hot wave of realization swept over her. Some burning lines of Browning came to her mind:

Be a god—and hold me with your charm.
Be a man—and hold me with your arm.

Eunice sank down upon the bed and buried her face deep in the pillow. To her trembling heart only one thing was clear. That which in the days just past had made the sun in the heavens shine for her as it had never shone before, that was over. He belonged to another. What had he to do with her or she with him? She was alone—utterly and absolutely alone.

Hon. Shiller B. Herman, distinguished statesman and legislator of Portland, Oregon, who was recently on an eastern trip, is among those strong-ly in favor of L. T. Cooper, in the discussion over Cooper and his medicines, which has raged for the past year in cities visited by the young man on his educational campaigns, as he calls them. Cooper was expounding his new theories and medicines to Boston people during the Oregonian's visit to that city, and in a recent interview Mr. Herman said: "My trip east accomplished more for me than I ever believed possible. It has actually been the means of restoring my health. While in Boston I heard a great deal about this man Cooper and his medicines, and one morning I talked with a Boston banker

AMERICAN SOCIETY GIVES ITS USUAL FEAST IN LONDON.

ATTENDANCE IS SMALL.

Ambassador Reid's Cheerful Talk About Financial Troubles—Colonies in Vienna and Berlin Celebrate.

London, Nov. 29.—(Whitehall) Reid, the American ambassador, spoke optimistically of the financial outlook, and Field Marshal Sir George Stuart White eulogized President Roosevelt in the warmest terms at the Thanksgiving dinner of the American society Thursday night.

That the financial depression was felt among the Americans in England was shown by the attendance at the banquet, which was the smallest in several years. Three hundred guests participated, compared with 400 at last year's banquet. The president of the society, Col. Millard Hunsicker, was absent, and R. Newton Crane, a former president, presided in his stead. Ambassador Reid sat at his right at the table of honor and Mrs. Reid sat at his left.

Others at this table besides the speakers included the marquis and marchioness of Tweeddale; Sir Ernest Cassel, Robert J. Wynne, the American consul general at London, and Mrs. Wynne; J. J. Van Alen, Capt. Sydney Cloman, military attaché of the American embassy, and Mrs. Cloman; Isaac Seligman, Richard A. Westcott, deputy American consul general; Sir Joseph and Lady Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon Solfridge.

Ambassador Reid's Speech.

Mr. Reid said in part: "Some one said to me, as I was starting for this dinner: 'You will have to be a Mark Twain to-night, cheerful under difficulties.' That was only an exaggerated way of saying that we will have to be American as usual. Nothing could be more un-American than to be downcast over temporary disbursements or to despair of the republic because some of our people, unhappily, have lost their money almost as fast as they had made it. We have seen such things before, and it was worse when the country was not half so big or half so rich as it is now, and we have not forgotten how we came out of them.

"In most respects our country never has been in a happier position than today. It is not merely at peace but on terms of absolute good will with all the world. The whole sentimental press was unable to make a ripple in our cordial relations with that great friendly people in the farther east whom we had the honor of first introducing to the western world."

Feast and Dance in Vienna.

Vienna, Nov. 29.—The American colony celebrated Thanksgiving day with a banquet which was followed by a dance. Among the notable guests were Prof. Poltzer and Obersteiner of Vienna university, both of whom, in able speeches, referred to the scientific progress in America. The other guests included Nelson O'Shaughnessy, third secretary of the American embassy, and former Congressman O'Donnell of Michigan. Both the emperor and President Roosevelt were toasted.

Banquet in Berlin.

Berlin, Nov. 29.—Three hundred Americans celebrated Thanksgiving by dining together Thursday night at the Zoological Gardens. In the absence of the American ambassador, Charles H. Tower, Consul General Thackeray presided. President Hadley of Yale and Prof. Schofield of Harvard made speeches. A telegram of greeting was sent to President Roosevelt.

Gala Dinner in Tiflis.

Tiflis, Nov. 29.—A gala Thanksgiving dinner given here Thursday was attended by John P. Jackson, American minister to Persia, who arrived Wednesday, and the highest military and civil officials in the Caucasus. The toasts were markedly hearty and the speakers emphasized the closer growing relations between Russia and the United States.

WOMAN SLAYER CONVICTED.

R. M. Shumway Found Guilty of Murdering Mrs. Sarah Martin.

Beatrice, Neb., Nov. 29.—The jury which heard the case against R. M. Shumway, charged with the murder of Mrs. Sarah Martin near Adams on the afternoon of September 3, Thursday afternoon found the defendant guilty and recommended that the court sentence Shumway to hang. Mrs. Martin was the wife of Shumway's employer and was left alone with the man while her husband was at a primary election. The husband discovered the mutilated body of his wife on his return to the farm. Shumway was missing, together with about $200 in cash.

Must Not Be Imported Liquor.

Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 29.—Judge C. P. Tompkins of the state district court Thursday decided that the North Dakota statute authorizing the seizure of liquor imported into the state to be used as a beverage is unconstitutional. He held that the law violated the commerce clause of the United States constitution.

VON BUELOW IS AROUSED

SPIRITED DEFENSE OF GERMAN ARMY, KAISER AND HIMSELF.

Imperial Chancellor Replies to Dr. Spahn in Reichstag, Strongly Resenting His Criticisms.

Berlin, Nov. 29.—Thursday's sitting of the Reichstag was notable for the energetic speech of Prince von Buelow, the German imperial chancellor, in defense of the army, the emperor and himself.

In replying to Dr. Spahn, the leader of the center party, who asserted that conditions prevailing in the army recalled those of ancient heathen Rome, the chancellor rose, full of ire, and declared that no one imagined that the whole army was affected by a few instances of unworthiness, the rooting out of which, the chancellor assured the house, would be sharply attended to by the emperor, than whom no one strove more for a high tone of morality in both the army and the nation.

It was the crown prince, he said, who had called his father's attention to articles in the Zukunft disclosing corruption, with the result that immediate action was taken in the matter. He pointed out that neither the chancellor nor the ministers could take such a step without holding proofs of their assertions.

Prince von Buelow then referred to the so-called court camarilla which is widely alleged to have been influencing the emperor's decisions. No one, he said, had ever accused the emperor of being without his own will and the camarilla could only exist where the monarch was willing. Such a poisonous growth as a camarilla, he declared, was utterly un-German and reports regarding its existence could be taken as being without foundation.

In concluding his address the chancellor denied the assertion that he had dissolved the Reichstag in order to protect himself against personal attacks relative to his supposed participation in intrigues. The reason for such action, he said, was the obstruction offered by the center party, which desired to pit its strength against the nation's will.

AMADOR IS IN WASHINGTON.

He is accompanied by Mrs. Amador, his daughter; Mrs. Lewis, his sister-in-law; J. E. Lofore, private secretary; Misses Ramona and Helen Lofore, his nieces; Manuel E. Amador, consul general from Panama to New York; Russell Hopkins, consul general at San Francisco, and his little granddaughter, Adela Ehrman. The party was joined in Baltimore by Arnold Shanklin, American consul general at Panama, and C. C. Arsonson, charge of the Panama legation in Washington.

Friday President Amador will be driven through the city and at two o'clock he and Mrs. Amador will call on President Roosevelt. An hour later President and Mrs. Roosevelt will return the call at President Amador's hotel. A dinner at the White House in the evening and later a reception will be given them. On Saturday they will visit Mount Vernon, a naval vessel to be detailed to convey them down the Potomac. They will probably return to New York on Sunday.

STARTS ANTI-RACING CRUSADE.

Popular New Orleans Pastor Preaches Sermon Against the Sport.

New Orleans, Nov. 29.—In his Thanksgiving day sermon here at Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, the rector, Rev. Dr. Beverly D. Warner, inaugurated a crusade against racing in Louisiana, declaring that it is ruining the morals of her citizens and that there should be no juggling with the issue. Race track gambling, miscegenation by prominent New Orleans men and performances which he characterized as "vile and lewd" were the subjects of his sermon.

Dr. Warner is one of the most prominent Episcopal ministers in the south, and his church here is one of the most fashionable in the city. He has also held charges in Philadelphia and elsewhere. During the yellow fever epidemic here two years ago he headed a citizens' committee which undertook to stamp out the pest.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—Bernard Hugo Muehle, for 37 years assistant engineer in the United States service and one of the best authorities in the country on the harbors between Detroit and Buffalo, died at his home in this city Thursday. He was born in Germany in 1841.

New York, Nov. 29.—Turning on the gas and a phonograph at the same time, Mrs. George Tittle, aged 36, committed suicide at her home Thursday to the strains of "In the Wild Woods Where the Blue Bells Grow," her favorite air. She was despondent because of ill health.

CORNELL BEATEN BY PENNSYLVANIA

QUAKERS WIN ANNUAL FOOTBALL GAME BY 12 TO 4.

SURPRISE FOR ITHACANS

St. Louis University Defeats Nebraska 34 to 0—Results of Other Thanksgiving Day Contests.

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—History repeated itself on Franklin field Thursday afternoon, Pennsylvania winning the annual football game with Cornell, the score this year being 12 to 4. It was Pennsylvania's thirteenth victory in 15 games played with the Ithacans, the latter team having won one contest and tied another.

The game was finely played, bringing out many spectacular features which were greatly enjoyed by the nearly 20,000 people who filled the big stands. Cornell fully expected to win and her supporters turned the tide of betting in her favor.

Quakers Strong from Start.

But the teams were not on the field five minutes before it was seen that Pennsylvania, barring the accidents and fakes of the game, was likely to win. She went at Cornell hammer and tongs from the jump and all during the first half the play was close to Cornell's goal. The score of the first half, 6 to 0, does not indicate Pennsylvania's strength in that period.

Twice the Quakers carried the ball over the Cornell line by hard work, only to have the touchdowns disallowed because of holding. Once they lost the ball two feet from the goal on downs, and another time when the ball was only two yards from a score they were again penalized for holding. In this half the Quakers were penalized 75 yards and held Cornell to one first down. Pennsylvania clearly outplayed Cornell in this half, and yet, owing to her holding proclivities, was able to make but one touchdown.

Conditions were practically reversed in the second half, although Pennsylvania made another touchdown to a field goal by Cornell. In this half the Ithacans seemed to gain strength and several times endangered the Pennsylvania goal.

St. Louis Defeats Nebraska.

St. Louis, Nov. 29.—Swapt off their feet by superior strength and a varied and well-executed attack, but game until the final blow of the referee's whistle, the Nebraska University football team was defeated here Thursday by St. Louis university, in the presence of nearly 20,000 spectators, by the lopsided score of 34 to 0. It was St. Louis' first game with Nebraska and was, moreover, to decide the championship of the Missouri valley, and the St. John men celebrated by making four touchdowns in the first half and two in the second. Acker missed two attempts to kick goals from touchdowns.

Except for one brief period the game was St. Louis' all the way. The St. Louis backs tore great holes in Nebraska's line and took full advantage of the openings made for them by their linemen. Nebraska's defense proved surprisingly weak.

Ohio State Beats Ohio Wesleyan. Columbus, O., Nov. 29.—Ohio State university football team defeated Ohio Wesleyan Thursday 18 to 0 in a spectacular game, exemplifying the new style of play. Ohio's last two touchdowns were the results of forward passes received by Right-end Carr, once close to Wesleyan's goal line and again on Wesleyan's 45-yard line. Goals from touchdowns and a field goal from placement, kicked by Quarterback Harrington, gave Ohio state the remaining six points.

PRESIDENT GOES TO OLD MADISON HOME

HE VARIES HIS THANKSGIVING DAY CUSTOM.

WHITE HOUSE REUNION

New York's Celebration Shows No Evidence of Financial Distress—Taft Observes Day on Train.

Washington, Nov. 29.—President Roosevelt spent Thursday at the old home of President Madison near Montpelier, Va. This trip was taken in violation of the custom of the president, which has been to go to his country home at Pine Knot, Va., on Thanksgiving day. With him were Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, Ethel and Quentin Roosevelt.

The party left the White House early and were driven to the new Union station, which they left at nine o'clock in a special train. The trip over the Southern railway was without mishap and was enjoyed by all. They were driven over a fine road from Montpelier to the old Madison homestead and were escorted through all parts of the mansion and listened to many stories concerning the historic spot. The president was particularly interested in visiting the tomb of President Madison and remained near it for some time.

Upon reaching home carriages were taken and all were driven to the White House. Their Thanksgiving dinner was the occasion for a family reunion, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth remaining at the White House.

The Day in New York.

New York, Nov. 29.—Thanksgiving was celebrated in New York pretty much as usual, in spite of suggestions of financial depression and resultant economy. It was just as much of a holiday and there were just as many of the good things that go with the observance of the day as if there had never been a cloud in the financial sky.

If there was one in all New York's millions who went hungry it was his or her fault. One's financial status had nothing to do with the matter; for good dinners might be had for the asking at scores of places. There were the customary dinners at prisons and missions and feasts in halls, given by private benefaction to special classes of guests. Thus thousand had cause to be thankful, though there was no apparent increase in the number of those who laid claim to this form of charity. There were religious observances in all the churches.

Taft Celebrates on His Train.

Ufa, European Russia, Nov. 29.—On board the train bearing Secretary Taft and his party to Moscow tonight were drunk Thursday to President Roosevelt and Emperor Nicholas. In honor of Thanksgiving the Russian passengers presented an elaborate cake to the American secretary of war, bearing Russian and American flags. In responding to the presentation speech Mr. Taft said that he was impressed with the resources and fertility of Siberia and the appearance and the character of the people. He prophesied a future development for Siberia as great as and similar to that of the American western states and believed that it would become the leading section of the country in agriculture. He was pleased with his long anticipated visit to Russia and was sorry that he could not lengthen it.

Mr. Taft's train crossed the frontier at noon local time.

Father's Occupation Would Likely Be News to Lord Clare.

"The late Frederick McNally had occasion," said a Chicago lawyer, "to consult me about an infringed copyright. Mr. McNally said he thought there would be no trouble about correcting this infringement. The thing, he believed, had been innocently done. The man who had done it was an amateur in publishing—unsophisticated—like a girl his father used to tell about in Ireland. This girl was the daughter of a poor man, and every week or so she used to come to the village rectory with a phreasant or a hare to sell. The price she asked was low, and for a time the pastor bought of her. Then somehow, his suspicions were aroused. The next time the girl called, he said to her sternly: 'It is good, fresh game you bring, my dear, and your price is always reasonable; but do you come by all these pheasants and hares honestly?' 'Oh, surely, yes, your reverence,' said the young girl. 'My father is poacher to Lord Clare.'"

Rings Strangely Restored.

Mrs. Annie Paris, of Manchester, N. H., recently reported the loss of two rings to the police. Two days after she found both rings done up in a wad of paper and lying on the floor of the woodshed at her home. How they came there is a mystery which she says she shall not attempt to solve.

Streets With Queer Names.

Edinburgh has some queerly named streets, among which are Jacob's Ladder, Gabriel's Ladder, Collin Lane and Cuddy Lane. It is, however, in the "close" that this ancient city figures best. There are, for instance, Hole in the Wall close, Little Jack and Big Jack close, Lady Stairs, Hoyle-Away and Long close. The last is one of the shortest of these, and in that resembles Crooked and Turnagain lanes in London, the former being as straight as a die and the latter so narrow that a vehicle in it cannot possibly turn again.

Valuable Dwarf Palm Fiber.

The fiber of the dwarf palm—a tree until lately regarded as worthless or harmful—is developing an important industry in Algeria. Factories are multiplying, and to these the natives bring the palm leaves, which are transformed into vegetable fiber by a steam carding machine, and then spun and braided. The material has the advantage over horsehair of being proof against moths and insects. It is being used for mattresses, woven products, harness and carriage work, military bedding, various tissues, and even hats.
